You will recall that [REDACTED] is pretty charged up about the digitizer which he feels he needs in OCS. I think we would concur that he needs it, however, in para 4 of the attached memo [REDACTED] indicates that requirements may be coming along a bit late and recommends in para 7 that [REDACTED] be given a contract to build a special digitizer for [REDACTED]. All this is contrary to our general proposition of having no specialized equipment if we can avoid it. This may be an exception. In view of [REDACTED] feelings, however, I think we would do well to discuss this with [REDACTED] and then you can make the appropriate overtures to OCS. This is a pretty touchy situation either way.
